In particular, the novel titled The Historical Novel by Georg Lukács (published in 1937) is a seminal work that analyzes the nature of the historical novel as a literary form. Although not a novel itself, Lukács's analysis laid the foundation for understanding how novels can serve as a mirror to history.

However, the term "Lukacs the historical novel" often refers to novels inspired by his ideas—works that attempt to depict history through a dialectical process, emphasizing social change, class struggles, and the development of consciousness.

The Role of the Historical Novel in Lukács's Thought

Lukács believed that the historical novel embodied the dialectical process of history and society. It was a form capable of capturing the totality of social relations, revealing the struggle of individuals within their historical contexts.
